Debate Minnesota Promotes Civility in Politics St. Cloud State University Hosts House District 15A Debate

Eagan, Minn., September 13, 2006—Debate Minnesota 2006 returns for an important election year. Led by a multi-partisan board of directors, the Debate Minnesota Foundation aims to promote civility in politics and engage voters with fair and open forums that highlight candidates' views on particular issues.

Debate Minnesota 2004 hosted 19 debates in 19 districts around the state to wide acclaim. In 2006, 15 debates are scheduled, including races for the U.S. Senate, Governor, and the First, Sixth, and Eighth Congressional Districts, as well as 10 key state legislative races.

The Minnesota House District 15A debate between Steve Gottwalt (R) and Diana Murphy-Podawiltz (DFL) will be at 7 p.m. on Thursday, Sept. 14 at the Library/Miller Center Auditorium at St. Cloud State University in St. Cloud. The 90-minute debate will be moderated by Steve Berg, StarTribune editorial writer, and Lawrence Schumacher, community and political writer for the St. Cloud Times.

The famous Lincoln-Douglas debates during the 1858 Illinois Senatorial election were the inspiration for the Debate Minnesota mission. That year, the public square became an opportunity to exchange ideas and ideals, and a platform for the people to shape the country.

Debate Minnesota was established by the Independent Community Bankers of Minnesota, a non-profit association of independent, community-focused banks. Other sponsoring partners include Minnesota Sun Newspapers and the Minnesota Cable Communications Association.

The Debate Minnesota board of directors includes former Governor Al Quie; former U.S. Senator David Durenberger; former Minnesota State Attorney General Hubert H. Humphrey III; former State Senator Roger D. Moe; former State Senator Roy W. Terwilliger; former Minnesota Secretary of State Joan Anderson Growe; and ICBM President and CEO Will Haddeland. Additional board members include leaders from community banking and the media.
